Tribeca Investment Partners Taps Former UBS, Goldman Sachs JBWere and Bell Potter Executive, Fredrik Blencke to launch offering for UHNW Clients

SYDNEY (26 May 2021) - Australian fund manager Tribeca Investment Partners will partner with former Bell Potter executive Fredrik Blencke to launch Tribeca Private, a new private wealth advisory group focused on offering bespoke services to an exclusive group of ultra-high net wealth and family office clients.

Blencke has over 20 years of global financial experience starting his career with Lloyd's of London before transitioning to wealth advisory roles in Sydney with UBS, then joining Goldman Sachs JBWere. In 2012, he moved to Bell Potter Securities, where, as a Senior Private Client Advisor, he worked exclusively with a small group of UHNW clients located in Australia and overseas. According to Blencke, Tribeca has plans to make several new appointments in research and client service roles with longer term plans to make key hires in Sydney, Melbourne and Singapore.

In discussing his decision to partner with Tribeca, Blencke commented: "Being an owner-operated firm, Tribeca has a true investment driven - as opposed to product driven - culture that seeks the best investment themes and ideas globally. Tribeca's robust, infrastructure and offshore footprint in Asia provides the required degree of flexibility for our clients to invest opportunistically across asset classes including hedge funds, private equity and venture capital and benefit from quality advice in addressing the complex challenges of managing significant wealth.

Our clients typically have assets of more than $200m and include entrepreneurs, business leaders and families. They typically don't want 'off-the-shelf' solutions. Rather, Tribeca Private is able to share intelligence, resources and deal flow across our client network which is of tremendous value. Tribeca's substantial presence in Singapore offers clients a 'gateway to Asia' providing access to companies and transactions in the region.

In discussing the launch of Tribeca Private, David Aylward, Founder and CEO of Tribeca Investment Partners commented: "Tribeca has a long history of working with sophisticated investors through our specialized fund offerings and we have been able to provide access to some unique sources of return which are not typically accessible to investors in the Australian marketplace. We are looking forward to allowing clients of Tribeca Private to benefit from our strengths and insights as a fund management house and the deep relationships we have built over the last 23 years."

Tribeca Private will be engaging Praemium as an administration service noting its strengths in the reporting, custody and administration of complex portfolios including unlisted funds and securities.
